☞ The PATRONS OF THE MIRROR will please to observe that it has this day again come under the management of the original Proprietor and Editor.

The political opinions of a Printer have now become a matter of some importance; he, however, believes that his sentiments are so well known by the generality of the Subscribers to the MIRROR, as to render a declaration of them unnecessary; but as he aims at making his paper useful, he conceives that end can be more effectually answered than by a hearty and cordial support of the measures of the constituted authorities, while they have (as he now firmly believes) the true interests of their country in view.

☞ The Mirror will be continued to the former subscribers, as usual, unless where they signify their desire to decline.

ELLIS PRICE.

PHILADELPHIA, DECEMBER 27.

Yesterday was observed in this city as a day of mourning for the loss of the Father of our country. Business was suspended, the citizens appeared in the habiliments of grief—and the tones of the deep muffled bells ascended on high—while Philadelphia paid a merited tribute of respect to our beloved WASHINGTON, by pompous funeral honors—and genuine grief.

At the dawn of day, sixteen guns were fired in quick succession, and one gun at each half hour till sunset. At noon, the bier was received by the troops formed in line, presenting their arms and the officers, drums, and colours saluting, after which the procession formed and moved to the German Lutheran Church in the following order—Minute guns firing at distance.

On the arrival of the front Platoon at the Church, the Procession halted. The troops in front of the Bier formed in line; and opening their ranks, made an avenue through which the bier and remainder of the procession passed—the troops leading on their arms reversed.

As the procession entered the church, the solemn peals of the deep-toned organ impressed the mind with the utmost solemnity, and well prepared it for the mournful occasion; and, when the Orator of the day painted in glowing colours the illustrious deeds and virtues of the deceased, the public grief burst into unrestrained lamentation.

When he had ceased to speak, the mournful sounds of the organ again "softened the soul to all the tenderness of woe," while the following lines were chaunted by the Thespian choir.

Miss HUNTLY.
1st.—SERIOUS AIR AND CHORUS.

Columbia's Sons may now lament,
Their spear is broke, their bow unbent,
Their glory fled;
Amongst the dead Great Washington lies,
Forever closed his eyes.

Glorious Hero! may thy grave
Peace and Honor ever have;
After all thy pains and woes,
Rest eternal, sweet repose:
Bring the Laurels, bring the Bays,
Strew his hearse, and strew the ways.

DA CAPO.

Mr. DARLEY.

His glorious deeds inspired my tongue,
Whilst airs of joy from thence did flow,
To sorrows now I tune my song
And set my Harp to notes of woe.

Miss BROADHURST.
2st.

Sad, sad are the tidings rumour tells,
A grateful people mourn his end;
Amidst the brave and just he dwells,
His country's Father and it's Friend.

2d.

With honor crown'd, mature in age,
He fell the wonder of mankind;
Laden with laurels left the stage,
Nor leaves alas his like behind.

3d.

Seated in bliss supreme on high,
O! Spirit dear attend our prayer,
Our Guardian Angel still be nigh,
Make thy lov'd land thy Heav'nly care.

Mrs. OLDMIXON.
4th.

Angels ever bright and fair,
Take, Oh take him to your care;
Speed to your own courts his flight,
Clad in robes of virgin white,
Angels ever bright and fair,
Take, Oh take him to your care.

Mr. CARR,
5th.

Lord remember thy people,
Make us to know thy ways;
O guide our tongues with meekness,
Daily to sing thy praise.

Mrs. WARRELL

Pious orgies, pious airs,
Decent sorrows, decent prayers,
Will to the Lord ascend:
And move his pity,
And regain his love.

CHORUS.

His body is buried in peace,
But his name liveth evermore.

When the chaunting had ceased, the Bier was borne to its destined spot amidst solemn marshal music and the repeated volleys of musquetry. After which, the troops forming again in line, returned to their respecting parades in proper order.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the Congress of the United States, "in honor of the memory of General GEORGE WASHINGTON," have this day "Resolved, That it be recommended to the people of the United States, to wear crape on the left arm, as mourning, for thirty days:" and "That the President of the United States be requested to issue a Proclamation, notifying to the people throughout the United States, said recommendation:"

Now therefore, I JOHN ADAMS, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim the same accordingly.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Philadelphia, the twenty-fourth day of December, in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine, and of the Independence of the United States the twenty fourth.

(L. S.)

JOHN ADAMS.

By the President,
TIMOTHY PICKERING,
Secretary of State.

FRENCH FINANCES.

Message of the Directory to the council of Five Hundred.

21st Vendemaire (Oct. 13.)

"Citizens Representatives,

"The Executive Directory must again call your attention to the state of the Finances. It is such as must alarm the Friends of Liberty, if they were not confident in your wisdom, your courage, and the resources of the Nation.

"You have done a great deal in the way of order and economy in strictly regulating the expences of the year eight; but you have done nothing to restore Public Credit and Confidence, till you have rendered the receipts of that year equal to the expenditure, and compleated those of last year. Till then the operations of the Treasury will be shackled; delay must pervade the service of the Armies and Administrations. Neither circulation nor business will resume their course, and the Public, justly uneasy, will dread the return of extraordinary measures prescribed by necessity.

"In order to attain this double object, the Directory feel it incumbent on them to lay distinctly before you the produce of the year seven, and the probable produce for the year eight, the different branches of the Revenue, and the extraordinary resources which had been assigned for the expences of the year seven, and those assigned for those of the year eight.

"The state of disturbance of several Departments will occasion a necessary defalcation of produce of the land, mobiliary and personal taxes, the extent of which, in the present circumstances, it is difficult to determine. It will be much worse if these disturbances continue to spread. It may be estimated, however, at several millions. Thus it would not be far from the mark in estimating the neat produce of these taxes for the year eight 250 instead of 267 millions.

"The Contributions of the conquered [illegible] will undergo no reduction, unless become the Theatre of War.—[illegible] observation is sufficient to shew that this article ought not to be included among the Ways and Means of the year eight—To keep it in view it may be stated:

"The management of the regular Tax and that of National domains ought, from the calculation made, to have produced 20[illegible] millions neat revenue in the year seven—it produced only 192 millions. The Council must be aware that this article cannot be estimated at a greater sum for the year eight.

"The Customs last year produced 8,800,000 francs; but a War, which extends from the Mediterranean to the Channel, has in this quarter suspended all the relations of Commerce. If this state of things were to continue, it would be necessary to transfer the customs to the side of expence. With great efforts wisely directed, however, this branch for the year eight must be estimated at 4,000,000.

"The Postage of Letters produced in the year seven 8,00,000.—But as this was a period when business was dull, this article might be taken at 10,000,000.

"A new rate, and a new administration of it, would increase its produce; but there are times when the relations of friendship & of business become languid—There is also a time when economical provisions are rather productive of expence and loss because they impede the activity and the punctuality of the public service. The Council has felt and expressed their conviction of this truth. The Post-office Duty may then be estimated at ten millions for the eighth year.

"The National Letteries will have yielded six millions for the seventh year—It will amount to the same for the eighth year.

"The Tax on Salt Magazines will produce five millions.

"Of 125 millions of National Domains destined for the extraordinary expences of the War and of the Marine, there have only been sold for 38 millions, and from that sale 22 millions will be made payable to the Army Commissaries. This mode of sale cannot surely meet the approbation of the Legislative Body.

"But if that portion of the National Domains produced only that Sum for the 7th year, the Receipts in Cash that are to come in for the 8th year, cannot be estimated at more than Ten Millions from the said Sales. The Surplus of the amount of the Sales can only be received successively and during the course of the following year.

"Such are the basis on which rest the Estimates and Amounts of the different branches of the Revenue, destined for the exigencies of the 8th year. They cannot be improved but by successes, and the executive directory will employ every means to consolidate and realise them.

"But in order to establish the additional Revenue, necessary to make good the expenses of the 7th year, you must recall to mind, Citizens Representatives, the amount of the Receipts already made good, and the already ascertained expences.

"The Receipts of the first nine months, as ascertained by the minister of Finance, on the 7th Thermidor, amounted to 310 612 524 livres.

"The Receipts of the three last months including tax on landed property, amount to about 165,300,000 livres.

"Total 475,912,138 livres.

"The Expences of the year were estimated at 725 millions and as far as can now be ascertained, they will not much exceed that sum.

"Thus the difference between the income and the Expenditure is about from 240 to 250 millions; but there remains other receipts from the direct taxes, from those on doors and windows, and from other branches of the revenue amounting to nearly 110 millions—which would reduce the deficit to 130 millions. This would be made up by a part of the loan of 100 millions, and by the sale of the National Domains, if those, the amount of which is appropriated to the service of the 7th year, could be made productive.

"Under this point of view the situation of Finances for the 7th year could have nothing to alarm us, and in times of prosperity the difficulty would not exist at all, and it might be easily surmounted.

"But on one side, the sale of the National Domains is carried on with great tardiness, and on the other, the arrears of the contributions cannot be made up for several months to come; nor can the receipts of the 8th year begin before the month of Frimaire next. Hence arises great embarrassments. If the arrears of the 7th year were to be made good by the supply of that year, an extraordinary fund should be raised for the expenditure of the beginning of the 8th year.

"If, on the contrary, they are to be taken from the Supply of the 7th year, as to a certain extent must be done, then new amount of arrears arises, which is alarming to the public Creditors, and fatal to public credit.

"To your wisdom, Citizens Representatives, does it belong to resolve this problem in a manner which becomes the national dignity, without infringing on the principles of the regular administration.

"You will not forget how fatal to public credit were the arrears of the 4th, the 5th, and the 6th year, and how much they tended to extinguish the confidence which began to be restored.

"Were there any measure which the executive directory felt it necessary to recommend to the legislature, it would be to fill up this deficit, and to remove the delays of payment; nor would such a measure be impracticable even in these indigent and distressful times. The holders of that part of the national debt are tired of waiting: their hopes begin to fail them. The attention, however, which the Legislature will bestow on these objects, will be a pledge of its justice, which will be received with gratitude, and which will revive a favorable opinion of the fidelity observed in public engagements, and the confidence that should be reposed in the national justice."

FROM THE NORFOLK HERALD.

BRITISH CONSUL'S OFFICE, Norfolk, Virginia, Dec. 21. 1799.

Gentlemen,

Be pleaſed to inſert in the Herald for the information of Merchants and others concerned, the incloſed copies of certain Reſolutions, paſſed by the Honorable the Privy council of Jamaica, which have been forwarded to me by the Right Honorable Earl Balcarras, His Majeſty's Lieutenant Governor of that Iſland, to be made public within my diſtrict.

I remain, Gentlemen,
Your moſt obedient ſervant.

JAMAICA.

In Privy Council, 5th Oct, 1799.

His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor laid before the Board a circular letter from his Grace the Duke of Portland, one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, ſtating, that in conſequence of opening the ports in His Majeſty's Weſt India Iſlands to foreign veſſels for the importation of Proviſions, Muſcovado Sugar had been permitted, in ſeveral of the Iſlands, to be exported in American bottoms in return for the proviſions brought in thoſe veſſels, which is not only contrary to the laws of Navigation, but very detrimental to the Commerce, Navigation and Revenue of Great Britain; eſpecially as Sugar now pays no duty on ſuch exportation—and ſubmitted to the Board the propriety of amending their reſolution of the 28th of Auguſt, 1798, in regard to ſuch return cargoes:—

The Board having taken the ſame into their moſt ſerious conſideration,

Reſolved, That the ſaid Reſolution be amended.

Reſolved, That his Honor, the Lieutenant Governor be adviſed to recommend to the ſeveral officers of His Majeſty's cuſtoms at the ſeveral ports of this Iſland, to permit the free importation of ſheep, hogs, poultry, ſmall live ſtock of all kind, and all ſorts of fruit, ſalted, and all other proviſions, lumber of every deſcription, as well in Britiſh as in all other veſſels belonging to Neutral, and other States in amity with Great Britain, from the day of the date hereof until the 1ſt day of March next, and until ſix months notice ſhall be given to the contrary upon the like terms, charges and conditions, and ſubject to the ſame rules, regulations, viſitations, and ſearches, as are obſerved with reſpect to veſſels importing proviſions to this iſland.

Reſolved, That from and after the firſt day of January, next, all neutral veſſels importing the foregoing articles under the authority of the above reſolution, be permitted to export from any port or ports, place or places of this iſland, ſuch articles (ſugar, cocoa, nuts, coffee, ginger, pimento excepted) as may be exported to foreign parts, upon the like terms, ſtipulations, charges, and conditions, as are obſerved with reſpect to Britiſh veſſels in the like caſes.

Reſolved, That it be recommended to his Honor the Lieutenant Governor to tranſmit copies of the foregoing reſolution, to his Majeſty's Conſuls in the United States of America, and to have the ſame publiſhed in the Saint Jago de la Vago, Royal Gazettes.

True Extract.

NEW YORK, DECEMBER 24.

Dr. Linn has been prevailed upon to furniſh the Editor of the New-York Gazette with the few ſentences pronounced in his Sermon laſt Sunday, on the death of General Waſhington.

"——— WE are witneſſes this day, that no character however exalted, that no ſervices however long continued and extenſive, can ſave from the ſtroke of death.——What means this melancholy ſound of bells which daily ſtrikes our ears?——What means this ſorrow which ſtrikes the face of every citizen?——What means theſe ſable enſigns which are hung in our very churches?——Have any of our citizens been deſtroyed by fires, or ſwallowed by earthquakes?——Do hoſtile fleets and invading armies threaten us with immediate ſlavery or death?——No;——WASHINGTON, the boaſt of our nation, under God, and the admiration of the world, is no more!——

"There is not ſuch another to die——Few ſuch have ever exiſted upon this earth. God endowed him with ſuperior qualities, and afforded him occaſions for their full diſplay. When he retired from the command of the army, every one ſuppoſed that he had attained to the pinnacle of greatneſs and would recline in ſafety the remainder of his days beneath a ſhade of laurels at Mount Vernon; but we behold him, at his country's call, magnanimouſly renouncing his retreat, putting his fame at riſk, and eclipſing even the glory of his military life by his luſtre as a ſtateſman. A ſecond time he retires with the bleſſings of millions; and as though God deſighted to honor him, and to exhibit the greatneſs of his ſervant, we behold him afterwards accepting the office of lieutenant general of our armies. Under theſe meſſy honors he hath ſunk to the grave. God in mercy hath removed him, leſt we ſhould think him immortal, and pay to a creature that adoration which is alone due to the glorious Creator.

"I ſtand not here, my brethren, to pronounce his eulogium. Appoint what Orator you will, he can never riſe to the height ſo noble a theme demands. The name is above what Grecian or Roman ſtory preſents, and it would require more than Grecian or Roman eloquence to do it juſtice. That calumny which has ſought to tarniſh his fame, will ſoon become dumb: and the name of Waſhington be revered until the faſhion of the world has wholly paſſed away.

"Suffer me only to add, Let us be grateful to God for ſparing him ſo long, and making him the inſtrument of ſo many ſervices; let the death we ſo loudly lament ſerve to unite us as American citizens; and let us depend upon the Almighty Arm which can ſtill protect and deliver us."

FREDERICKSBURG, DECEMBER 31.

Tribute of reſpect to the memory of
GENERAL WASHINGTON.

The citizens of this place, though anxious to pay early marks of attention to the memory of this ever to be revered character, have been prevented from accompliſhing this object by unavoidable circumſtances, until Sunday laſt.

The ſolemnities of the day commenced at ſun-riſe with the tolling of the bell, and the diſcharge of minute guns from the artillery company under the command of Lieut. Hackley.

The Maſonic Society met at their lodge room at half paſt 10 o'clock, and the moſt worſhipful the grand maſter of the ſtate of Virginia (Major B. Day) at the requeſt of the lodge, took the chair on this ſolemn occaſion, and delivered therefrom an appropriate addreſs.—At the ſame time, the tolling of the bell and the firing of minute guns recommenced, and continued till half paſt eleven, when the maſonic proceſſion moved from their hall, preceded by muſic playing a ſolemn dirge, to the parade, where they were received by the military with reverſed arms, and from whence both moved to church, where a pertinent diſcourſe was delivered by the Revd. Mr. Steventon, from Joſhua I. 1.—"And the Lord ſpake unto Joſhua, the ſon of Nun Moſes's miniſter, ſaying, Moſes my ſervant is dead."——The ſolemnities of the day were concluded by the firing of 16 minute guns.

The Swiſs women, in a late action, took the ſide of the imperialiſts againſt the French. They fought with arms in ſome meaſure ſuitable to their ſex. The French attacked a ſmall village, where the women threw boiling water upon them; and, before the place was taken, the troops found it the hotteſt action in which they had been engaged the whole war. The number of theſe hot water warriors taken, amounted to ſeven hundred and fifty.

☞ NOTICE.

THE different Uniform Companies of the 106th Regiment, Artillery and Horſe, are notified to meet at the Court Houſe on Sunday Morning next, at 10 o'clock, from thence to march in proceſſion to the Preſbyterian Meeting Houſe, where a Funeral Sermon will be delivered by the Rev. JAMES TALLISON, Member of the Methodiſt Congregation, on the much lamented Death of Gen. WASHINGTON.

Lands for ſale, or exchange for other Property.

SEVEN hundred and eighty-eight acres in the county of Hampſhire, on the waters of Great Cape Capon, about 20 miles from the Warm Springs, and 90 from Winchester.—The land is timbered with oak and pine timber. Two excellent farms may be made, with 30 to 50 acres of bottom, and rich high lands to each, and in the heart of the timber there is a fine ſeat for a tan-mill. Capt. Daniel Rice will ſhew the lands.

Three thouſand five hundred and forty-five acres in the county of Ohio, on the waters of Grave and Fiſhercreek, near the river Ohio, and about 60 miles below Pittſburg. Some of theſe lands are very good, with conſiderable quantities of rich bottom, and plenty of excellent timber. Robert Andrews, Eſq. the Surveyor of that county, will ſhew theſe lands.

One hundred and eighty acres within three miles of the Warm Springs, upon Great Cape Capon, near the main road and within half a mile of the River Potomack. This land has about 70 to 80 acres of rich bottom, moſtly in cultivation, with 70 bearing apple trees on it; from which, I am informed, more may be made than 100 barrels of good ſaleable cyder annually. There is alſo a ſeat for mill and ſaw mills on it, equal to any on that ſide the mountains, and upon a never failing ſtream of water. The upland is rich, and plenty of timber, and part under cultivation. The farm is well improved with a good orchard, houſes and fencing, and rented laſt year for produce equal to ſixty pounds per annum. Joſeph Hanſbrough, at the Warm Springs, will ſhew it. I will ſell all, or any of the above lands for cash, or upon credit, or take in exchange for them lands in Fairfax County, or Lots of land in the town of Alexandria, or the city of Waſhington. R. T. HOOE.
